HOW PLANTS MAKE THEIR OWN FOOD

Most plants are able to make their own food. They don't have to go hunt for food, and they usually don't eat other plants. Plants actually use sunlight, water, and air to create their own food!

First, plants absorb sunlight through their green leaves and store the sun's energy inside the leaves. When it rains or someone waters a plant, water seeps into the ground. Plants collect water they need from the ground through their roots. It flows through the stem and out to the leaves.

Plants also need air. The air passes through tiny holes in the plant's leaves. When the plant has sunlight, water, and air inside the leaves, it can create food for itself. After it creates food, some of the air goes back out of the plant.

1. Number the steps in order:

- ___ Leaves absorb sunlight
- ___ Plant uses sun, water, and air to make its food
- ___ Roots get water from the ground

2. What would happen if there was no water in the ground for the plant to collect?

3. Why are leaves important to plants?

4. Carl picked a flower from the garden and set it in a drawer. A few hours later, it died. Why didn't the flower make its own food to survive?

LIFE CYCLE OF AN EASTERN BLUEBIRD

Eastern Bluebirds live in North America. Like their name suggests, Eastern Bluebirds have blue feathers. The male bluebirds are a more brightly colored blue than the females.

A male Eastern Bluebird finds a good place for a nest. He will bring nest material to the hole and wave his wings to attract a female. The female bluebird finishes building the nest and lays 3 to 5 blue eggs in the nest. The female keeps the eggs warm while the male stays close by to guard the nest.

After two weeks, the eggs start to hatch and chicks emerge. They are small, pink and gray chicks and can't fly yet. Both parents bring food to the chicks. The chicks grow very quickly and are ready to fly just three weeks after hatching. A few months later, the chicks leave their parents. They fly off to eventually build their own nests. The oldest recorded Eastern Bluebird was 10 years old.

4. The mold is cooled with cold water and the crayons solidify.
5. Pressure pushes the crayons out of the mold.
6. The crayons are checked for quality and then sent to get the labels put on!

1. Number the steps in order:
____ Wax and pigment are heated.
____ Crayons are pushed out
____ Liquid is poured into a mold

IGUANA LIFE CYCLE

An iguana is a large lizard that lives in tropical climates. Some people have iguanas as pets. Iguanas can grow up to six feet long, but they don't start out that big.

A female iguana digs a burrow in the ground to build her nest. She lays between 40 to 60 eggs in the nest at one time, but only a small amount of the eggs will survive. After the eggs are laid, the female leaves them on their own.

About 8 to 10 weeks later, iguana hatchlings will come out of the eggs. It can take one to two weeks for the hatchlings to get out of their eggs and for the egg yolk sac to fall off its body. The yolk sac was how the hatchling got nutrients while it was in the egg.

The iguana is then a baby and will grow for two years until it is an adult iguana. Adult iguanas can live to be 30 years old. Male and female iguanas mate when they are about two or three years old. After mating, the female produces eggs.

1. Number the stages in order:

____ Hatchlings come out of eggs

____ Adult iguanas mate

____ Females lay 40-60 eggs

2. What would happen if the iguana eggs didn't hatch?

3. Why do not many of the iguana eggs survive?

4. Pam saw an iguana hatchling with a sac stuck to its body. What sentence could tell Pam what part of the life cycle the iguana is in?

The Soundtrack of My Life

Music is a backdrop against which we live our lives. Specific songs can bring distinct memories of people, places and events from our past and present. Think about your life up until now. What major events do you remember that have changed you, influenced you, or shaped your life? Did these events make you happy, laugh, mad or sad? They may be huge like your first day of school, a vacation or trip you took, moving houses/towns, or even the death of a loved one. OR, they might have seemed insignificant at the time, but looking back it has changed you or shaped your life in some way, like starting to play a sport, your first musical performance, a teacher you had or the first time you read a book. Now, what songs remind you of those important events in your life? Include as many songs as you would like. Share your answers with Ms. Cate at acate@sd194.org. Have fun reminiscing on your life.
