

True Friendship

- Story of Heartbreak- Page 2
- The Thing About Kissing- Page 4
- An Adventurer's Friend- Page 5
- Many People- Page 6
- Never Worth Losing- Page 7

Grade	11/4
Fiction
Poetry	/
Nonfiction

Story of Heartbreak

This is a story,
A story about pain,
A pain that hurts so bad
That you don't know how
To move on.

When you love someone,
Truly love someone,
That person becomes all you care about.

Love is fickle,
Love is unexplainable,
Love is mysterious,
Most of all,
Love... Love is wonderful.

The moment when you kiss someone
You feel as if that person
Is the only person
You should ever kiss for the rest of your life.
Your only fear?

The fact you may lose that person.
When it happens, you lose yourself.
You forget what makes you,
Your heart feels like there is no place,
No place where it can find happiness.

Your walls crumble,
Your knights flee,
You are left unprotected.
You wish the blade that threatens you
Would come faster.

You scar yourself,
To remember,
Remember the things you loved.

The pain becomes friendly.
The pain becomes the only thing that takes you back
To when you were happy.

The pain lies to you!

You begin to believe the pain is your only friend.

Your heart, once warm

And kind,

Now cold

And broken.

Broken into so many pieces

You feel you have lost too many pieces,

Too many pieces gone to complete the puzzle.

You will never be the same.

They tell you it gets better,

You cannot see the future,

You cannot see brighter skies,

You cannot believe the words they say.

True love is impossible to recover from.

True love leaves you quickly and violently.

True love hurts so bad!

That you cannot see the light

At the end.

It all hurts,

It will for a long time,

Heartbreak is pain.

The Thing About Kissing

There is a thing,

A thing about kissing.

This thing is,

Unless you know it will last,

Don't!

In the moment,

A kiss is wonderful!

But after, you only want more.

If they will give you more

Then you are fortunate.

If not,

You are lost.

Their warm soft lips feel natural on yours.

You feel like they belong there,

And maybe they do.

Which makes it even harder to lose them.

To protect yourself,

Don't kiss.

Don't kiss unless you have found,

That perfect someone.

An Adventurer's Friend

The adventurer is a person who travels

looking for new experiences.

He only sees the possibilities,

The possibilities for something great.

Treasures fill his pockets.

Gold!

Silver!

Trinkets!

But treasures he can't fill his pockets with,

Love,

Family,

Friends.

The venturer is a lonely person.

But every so often,

He can find friends.

When this adventurer makes a friend,

This adventurer will always

Be there for that friend.

The adventurer spent so much time alone,

That when he is not

He never wants to forget that companionship.

His treasures change so something worth more than,

Gold,

Silver,

And Trinkets.

But treasures he can now hold,

Love,

Family,

Friends.

Friendship becomes his greatest treasure.

If you befriend an adventurer,

Always be true to them,

Because he will always be true to you.

Many People
 Many people make mistakes they wish they hadn't.
 Many people ask for forgiveness.
 Many people are strong.
 Many people believe in others.
 Many people want to be loved.

But

Many people don't know how to ask for forgiveness.
 Many people don't know how to be better.
 Many people wish they could take everything back.
 Many people have been hurt.
 Many people think themselves as nothing.
 Many people don't know how loved they are.

So

We should forgive those who ask for forgiveness.
 We should help those people be better.
 We should show people their strengths.
 We should love those who need us!

Never Worth Losing

Although we are now only friends.

I would be willing to do so much for you.

You're the reason I know what love is.

For you,

I would climb the highest mountain,

I would fight a giant army,

I would swim across the sea,

I would go to war.

If it meant I could protect you.

Things aren't the way they were,

But nothing's worth losing you.

I just hope

That one day you will love me too.

I know you were never happy with me,

But I was never happier without you.

Even though we now, are only friends,

I know, that nothing is worth losing your friendship.

I will do anything to keep you close.