March 7, 2018

Parent/Guardian:

On Wednesday, March 14, 2018 all SGL students are invited to a very special Lincoln Center performance of the play Where Words Once Were. Set in a dystopian time where language is rationed, a sentence can get you sentenced, and the silent are rising, our young hero Orhan discovers that a word can change the world.

At Lincoln Center students will do work around Art and Literacy concepts, therefore, participation will count towards students' third marking period ELA grades.

Students and teachers will take public transportation or yellow busses to and from Gerald Lynch Theatre located at Hunter College. All students will be back in the building by 2:00pm and will be dismissed as usual.

The trip is free, but students need to bring a bagged lunch to school on Wednesday.

Students need to be in regular uniform

Please sign the permission slip below and return it to the school tomorrow.

Thank you,

School for Global Leaders

Note: All school and NYCDOE rules are in effect for the trip and failure to comply may result in a student not being able to participate in upcoming school trips.

I give my child _____ Class: _____ permission to attend the Lincoln Center trip on March 14, 2018 and will send him/her to school with a bagged lunch that day.
