

The Powhatan County Public Schools Parent Resource Center (PCPS-PRC) offers assistance to families and educators by encouraging effective partnerships between home and school. Our goal is to equip parents and teachers with tools and resources which promote learning, as well as to support partnerships among families, students, school staff, and the community.

The PCPS-PRC ...

- *Provides direct support through listening and problem-solving with families and educators. These communications can take place in-person, and/or through phone and email conversations.
- *Assists family members and staff in locating resources and information relevant to topics of interest, both in the Parent-Community area in PCPS school libraries and with outside agencies and organizations.
- *Offers information on local family support groups and programs.
- *Collaborates with other local agencies and PCPS Committees to provide interactive workshops on general and specific topics.
- *Shares information on the Special Education process.
