Overview

Fort Greene Preparatory Academy is committed to rigorous learning through hands-on activities, learning expeditions in the community, technology, and performing arts as part of daily instruction. Our STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) program features weekly labs, hands-on activities, regular scientific demonstrations, and immersion in real world scientific and technological problem solving such as robotic design and computing coding. Through partnerships with New York University and NYU Polytechnic School of Engineering, our scholars benefit from the mentoring of graduate engineering students. Our history and ELA programs are enriched with lively debate, student-directed research, and project-based learning. Through partnerships with Lincoln Center Theater and Irondale Theater Ensemble, scholars enrich their literacy learning through the study of drama and attend live theater performances in every grade. As a small school, we offer a family style environment, where every child is known well by the adults and other children in the building. Through our online grading system, we allow direct parent-to-teacher communication and instant access to a student's progress.
