introduction

One of my students' all-time favorite activities is to sit down & play board games together. They loved it so much that I knew I had to give them the opportunity to create their own.

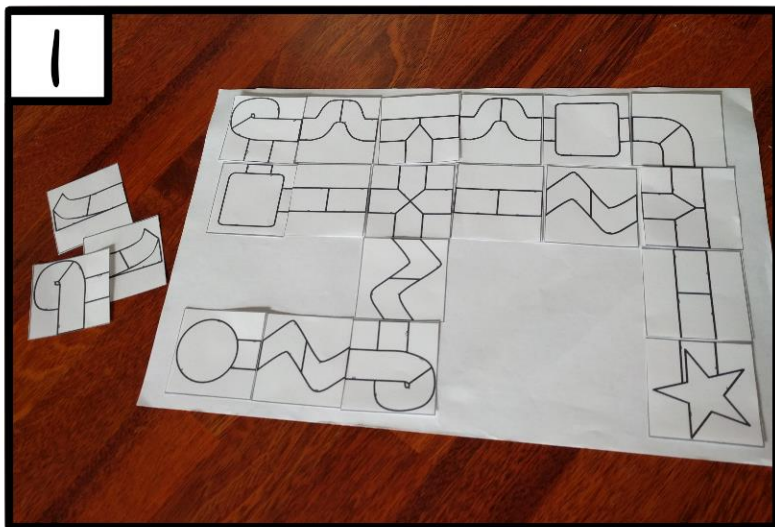

Encourage your own kiddos to put their "steam" skills to the test by inviting them to design, map out & build their very own original board game! Each game is guaranteed to be unique!

Adaptable to:

- individual work or small collaborative groups
- any subject or academic standard
- primary & intermediate grades
- various skill levels
- different styles of game play

Your students will have a blast exercising their art & engineering abilities, developing a cohesive visual theme, and demonstrating their academic knowledge through their game design ideas. But even more than that, they will absolutely LOVE learning about & PLAYING each others' games!
