

WHAT IS HYBRID LEARNING?

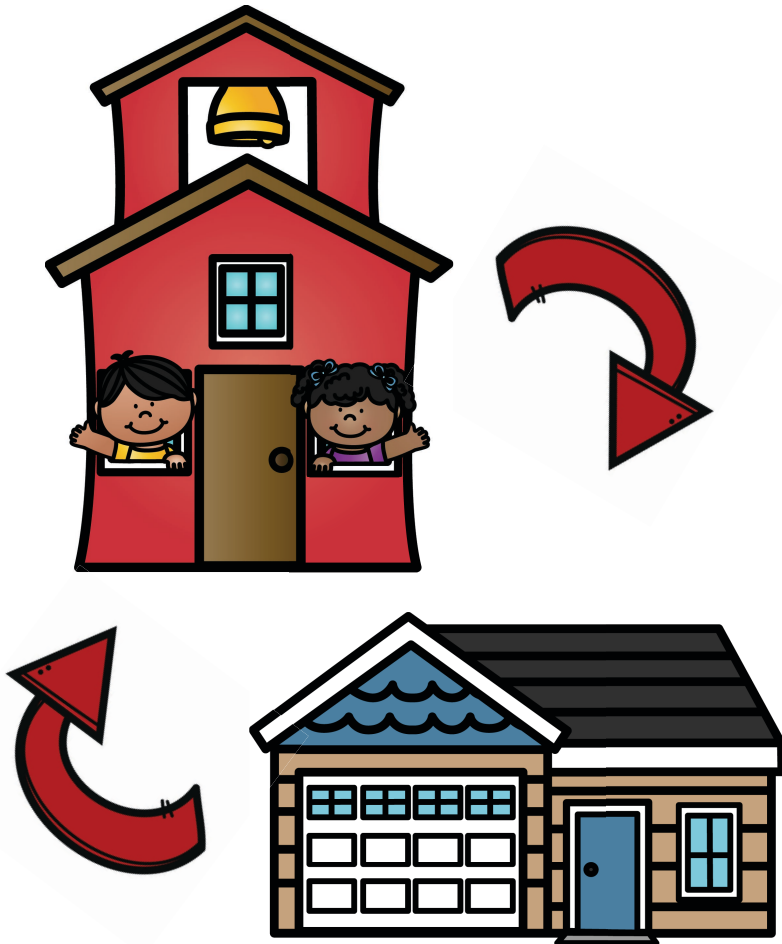

Coronavirus has made school look very different this year.

Last spring, students and teachers
did their work from home.

This is called distance learning. This was done to stop the spread of germs.

School will be starting again soon.
My school will be doing something called hybrid learning.

EXAMPLE

MY HYBRID LEARNING CALENDAR
MONDAY SCHOOL	TUESDAY SCHOOL	WEDNESDAY DISTANCE LEARNING	THURSDAY DISTANCE LEARNING	FRIDAY DISTANCE LEARNING
 HOME		SATURDAY HOME	SUNDAY HOME	 HOME

This means that I will go to my school building for learning a couple of days per week. The other days,
I will be doing distance learning
from home.

This way, there are less people in the school building at a time because students will take turns going to in person school.

This will be different. None of us have done hybrid learning before.

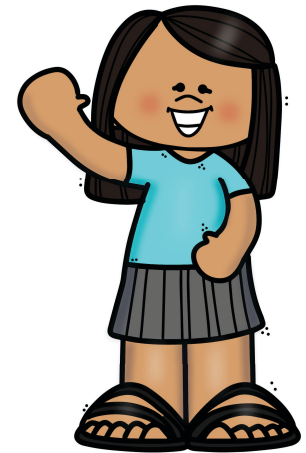

When I am learning at home,
it is important to listen to the adult who is helping me with my schoolwork. This might be my mom, dad or other adult.

I should try my best to listen to them, just like I would listen to my teacher when I am at the school building. It is still school, but I am doing it from home.

Hybrid learning is different. It might take a while to get used to!

The great thing about hybrid learning is that I will get to see some friends and my teachers at school each week!
