CLASS PERIOD:

Assignment: OP Art Drawing-

Students were introduced to Op Art, or Optical Art, and how the artists Victor Vasarely, Bridget Riley, and M.C. Escher used this art form to influence history. Students explored the relationship Op art has to Linear Perspective from the previous lesson, to better understand the new content. Students were able to discuss and show evidence of how artists use color, line, value, and shape to create the illusion of space in a 2-Dimensional piece of art. Students were graded on completion, evidence of practice before the final composition, craftsmanship, ability to create the illusion of space using value, color, line, and shape, and understanding/following assignment directions and expectations.
