Manhattan New School will feature 10 parent workshops this year. Each workshop is intended to equip parents with the best possible tools to support their child's development.

At Manhattan New School, we believe in the development of the whole child: the academic, social, and emotional growth. These workshops will be tailored to assist in the development of each of these parts. They are also designed to build community within our school. The workshops will have teachers or experts in the field leading each session.

Get ready to roll up your sleeves, build relationships with members of our school community, learn a thing or two about you and your child as a learner!

Please note, sign ups for workshops will be online.
