COMMENTS

A Touch of Understanding presented a workshop for our 4th through 6th graders. This is a workshop to develop understanding and tolerance toward disabilities. Our students met individuals with disabilities, heard their stories and had hands on experiences simulating what having a variety of disabilities would feel like. Some have described this program as a life changing experience. Here we have seen a higher level of compassion in our students.

Angela Boley has been presenting a six series of “Parenting with Love and Logic” for our families. We have also purchased Love and Logic books, CDs, and videos for our families to check out from the office.

We are also preparing for our first Art Auction and Movie Night. The hard work of students, teachers, and volunteers has produced amazing canvases using different techniques and medium. These along with additional artwork or holiday items that students have made will be auctioned or sold at our event this Saturday.

Refreshed from the break and with the end of the semester approaching, teachers are beginning their end of semester assessments in preparation for report cards. Also with the approaching holidays, students are having lessons on various cultural holidays from around the world.
